

The Y2Y model views young people as assets and resources, not as problems in need of a solution. Built on the premise of positive peer support, Y2Y helps teens make the choice to be tobacco, alcohol and drug-free. Our "assets in action" approach allows teens to be involved in every step of the development and implementation of our projects. Through their participation teens receive leadership skills and the ability to play an invaluable role in making a positive difference.

Youth to Youth International (Y2Y) has been an icon in the field of youth leadership and prevention for decades. Our conferences are famous for being uniquely youth-led, with a commitment to making a large conference feel more intimate and participants more personally connected. Y2Y empowers young people to figure out what they STAND FOR! Like an icon, what do they REPRESENT in their schools and communities?

It's your chance to be

ICCO

Our summer training conferences will impact teens, and the adults who care about them, long after the conference experience. Conference participants will be motivated, inspired and ready to take on the challenges to change social norms and school climate.

Famously Youth to Youth

Our conference small discussion groups are facilitated by trained youth staff leaders along with a supportive adult. These groups provide opportunities for a greater connection with others through personal interaction and sharing among conference participants...A place to be appreciated, respected and supported for just who they are!

Youth Action Groups allow your group to determine their own goals and design innovative plans at the conference to apply back home. Having a great personal conference experience is guaranteed, but having teens ready to impact their communities and schools and serve others is key.
